

Position: Environmental Scientist

Reports to: THPO

Status: Full time with benefits

Location: White Cloud, KS

Overview: This full time position is responsible for performing a wide variety of administrative and technical duties including but not limited to:

- Support development of tribe environmental program for long-term health of its people, land and water, combining the best of western science and traditional ecological knowledge
- Assist in collection and management of environmental data for Ioway Tribal National Park
- Networking with state, federal, local and tribal environmental officials as directed.
- Attending meetings of the Regional Operations Committee.
- Assist with routine surface water, sediment and biological sampling, various field and lab work, maintenance of equipment.
- Acquire and review existing environmental data descriptive of the environment on the reservation of the nation.
- Provide the public with information and education pertaining to pertinent environmental issues.
- Store and manage the environmental data and information on a database.
- Support the development of the Nation's environmental capacity to use the Geographic Information System (GIS) and Global Positioning System (GPS) technology to store and manage special information.
- Performs other duties as assigned.

Qualification Requirements:

- Bachelor's degree in Environmental Science or related field is required.
- Must have the ability to communicate effectively both orally and in writing.
- Must be able to work in weather extremes.
- Must possess a valid state driver's license.
- Must submit to drug testing

Benefits & how to apply:

- Health, dental, vision, short term disability, employee assistance program & life insurance provided
- Optional 401 K with up to 3% match, biweekly pay, accrued sick and vacation time, paid holidays
- Drop off or send applications to Attn: Cheyenne 3345 B Thrasher Rd White Cloud, KS 66094 or email to ccolborn@iowas.org.