Daycare News

The Iowa Tribal Learning Center is EXPANDING! Daycare is excited to announce that we are currently in the process of upgrading a few minor things to be in compliance with the State of Nebraska childcare center regulations to increase our license capacity. Daycare currently has a waiting list of children so by upgrading our license we will be approved to care for more than 12 children at one time and provide care for our current children enrolled and the waiting list.

At daycare we are also participating in the Step Up to Quality Program in Nebraska. The purpose of this program is to provide accountability for public funds invested in child care and early childhood education programs while providing a path to higher quality care. Step Up to Quality also provides a tool for the parents to evaluate the equality of the child care program while the daycare is improving child development and school readiness outcomes of the children enrolled. There are five Quality Steps, and financial incentives, technical assistance, and coaching that is available to our program as we continue to move up the Quality Steps. We have completed Step 1 and we are currently working on Step 2.

Daycare is in need of buttons and any craft items. If you would like to donate your old buttons or any extra craft items please drop them by the daycare. The children love to have the extras for our craft time. Anything would be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Stephanie Gerdes
Iowa Tribal Learning Center Manager

Tribal Historic Preservation Office

April 2016: Spring Newsletter Report of the THPO (Tribal Historic Preservation Office). By Lance Foster.

Like all tribes, our Ioway tribal culture has suffered destruction and decline for the last 200 years. The Iowa Tribe's THPO was established in 2012 to help advocate for and preserve our history, culture, and traditions.

THPO is the acronym for the Tribal Historic Preservation Office (and Officer), funded by an annual grant by the NPS to assist in protection of ancestral homelands and cultural sites. Vice-chair Alan Kelley (our first THPO) oversees the program for the Executive Committee. The current Tribal Historic Preservation Officer is tribal member Lance M. Foster, who is in his third year as THPO. Foster performs his duties with the input and advice of the Elders' Advisory Committee, which meets once a month and is appointed annually by the Executive Committee. Current members as of April include Louwane "Gaile" Reed, Clarence "Pete" Fee, Mike Ogden, Terry Murphy, and Elmer Randall.

THPO's primary role is to fulfill responsibilities for project compliance reviews, consultations, NAGPRA, and other meetings to advocate for ancestral homelands, sites, and burials. Examples since fall include master planning at Blood Run/Good Earth (SD and IA), Effigy Mounds (IA), Pipestone (MN), the Dakota Access Pipeline which runs several states, and NAGPRA meetings with the St. Joseph Museums and the Army Corps of Engineers in Kansas City. Compliance reviews and projects number in the hundreds every year and are only increasing in number.

The Campbell cemetery, within the reservation but on land alienated from the tribe, suffered neglect for many decades. Some of the individuals buried in the cemetery are Harvey William Campbell (d. 1875), Francis Dupuis (d. 1897), John Dupuis (d. 1897), Murray A. Campbell (d. 1901) and his infant son George Campbell. Campbell descendant Karen Simmonds Shea Murphy was the major force in this effort to begin the cleaning, along with husband Terry Murphy with the support of THPO. The Executive Committee directed the overall effort and additional labor by maintenance staff to further clean and prepare the ground. THPO provided funds for new fencing this winter for the cemetery, which will be seeded with buffalo grass. The cemetery will be cared for by the tribe in cooperation with the landowner and tribal member and farmer Bill Fee.

In addition to compliance and project reviews, THPO is involved in cultural preservation through language and culture projects and the tribal museum.

The THPO language and culture study group continues to meet at the Tribal Museum and on most Saturdays from 1-2, except when there is hazardous weather or when THPO job duties require travel. In a joint project with THPO, tribal member artist Sydney Campbell Maybrier Pursel, great-granddaughter of Emil Campbell, she designed several place names and street signs in both English and the Ioway language, which have been put up around the reservation by maintenance staff Mr. Keller and Mr. Rhodd.

THPO has sponsored several more cultural events since the last newsletter, notably the Powwow Project, which held several classes to teach how to make basic regalia, including ribbon shirts, dance shawls, and moccasins. One of the moccasin workshops was taught by Sydney and her father Phillip Pursel. A small powwow was held in the new Recreation Center to help young people learn how to dance, with special thanks to Nate Scates (and drum group) and his father Duane, as well as elders Louwane Reed and Pete Fee. Recently, a workshop in wood carving was taught by Marvin "Sonny" Campbell.

In 2014, THPO established the Baxoje Wosgaci ("Ioway Traditions-Lodge"), our tribal museum, Culture Center, and Archives. Exhibits are planned to educate visitors and members on the archaeology, history and culture of the reservation, as well as nature, agriculture, genealogy, treaties, and more. There are resources for researchers onsite and plans are in development for digital access online. Reuben Noah Jr., grandson of George Ogden Jr. and a museum professional, has been assisting for several months in policy development and care of collections at the tribal museum and archives.

The Iowa Community Building was built 1938-1940 by tribal members, using locally quarried stone, under the direction of the WPA's CCC Indian Division. Chief James White Cloud, the last living NA veteran of the Civil War laid the cornerstone with the assistance of some of our first Executive Committee members, including our first chairman, Harvey Campbell. It was conceived as a multipurpose building for the tribe, and has been the site for funerals, celebrations, feasts, powwows, funerals, church services, tribal governmental functions and meetings ever since it was built. It is slated to be nominated to the National Register of Historic Places this month, April 2016.

Please consider assisting the development of the tribal archives and museum. We are looking for old photos and papers regarding the tribe, its history and members. Although donations of original materials are welcome, we are very happy to receive copies as well. The main point is the information to help preserve our history and heritage for future generations. The museum's Facebook page is at:

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/iowaymuseum/>

Two new projects on the Iowa Reservation under THPO are just beginning this month. They include geophysical survey to better understand landscape conditions at the Leary Site National Historic Landmark (a village and burial hill over 500 years old), and a year-long cultural plant survey on the reservation. The plant survey will result in a guide of plants and their cultural uses for food and medicine, with habitat information on the reservation, which will be available to tribal members in a year or so. THPO has also supported the tribe's establishment of the beekeeping project as of last year and its expansion this year.

Finally check out the virtual tour of the Reservation, created by THPO, at: <http://pocketsights.com/tours/place/Iowa-Tribe-of-Kansas-and-Nebraska-Headquarters-2759>

THPO is grateful for the support of the Executive Committee and the tribe in all its projects, as well as the Elders' Advisory Committee, and all those who are involved in preserving and recovering our tribal heritage as Ioway people.

Currently the Baxoje Wosgaci, Iowa Tribal Cultural Center is undertaking a data base project to digitally scan older photos and tribal specific documentation helping preserve the history of the Iowa Tribe. In creating digital copies and preserving the original formats we can improve the access of these records for tribal members conducting genealogy research on their family histories, those who want to learn about Iowa Culture, and use the information to develop exhibits and more of an online presence in presenting our history.

We are asking tribal members to gather older family photos, military memorabilia, informational pamphlets, event memorabilia, picture postcards, tribal clothing, beadwork and any other Iowa tribe specific materials. Our focus, for the moment, is on items and information prior to 1970, as people and places from older eras are becoming harder to identify with so few elders still with us. Iowa Tribal members have the option of donating items to the collections or allowing us to make digital reproductions for the database. We do ask that you label the photos with any pertinent information, such as names and descriptions before bringing them in, which will help us to sort them into the appropriate folders.

The acceptance of items into the permanent collection will be at the discretion of the Baxoje Wosgaci and are defined within the collection policy. If you have any more questions contact Lance Foster, lfoster@iowas.org

Dear Tribal Members:

I would like to take the time to inform you of the programs I am responsible for operating in addition to my responsibilities of administering the Tribe's Contracts and Grants and Treasurer duties. Below are each program and a small description of the services we provide.

Higher Education Program:

The Higher Education Program is a grant program for tribal members working towards their Bachelor's Degree. It's based off of financial need and full-time student status. You do not have to live in the service area to be served. It's a yearly application due July 15th.

Adult Education Program:

The Adult Education Program is a program for unemployed or underemployed tribal members living in the service area. The purpose of the Adult Education Program is to improve educational opportunities for tribal members who lack the level of literacy skills necessary for effective citizenship and productive employment and to provide tribal members with sufficient basic education to enable them to benefit from job training and retraining programs and to obtain and retain productive employment. Eligible activities include acquiring basic educational skills, including literacy; provide educational services or instruction for elderly, disabled, or incarcerated Indian adults; if previously unemployed, purchase apparel that is required by job/duty; tutor fees for GED exam, and GED exam fees.

Caregiver Support Program:

The caregiver support program offers a multitude of services including information and assistance services, caregiver counseling and training, support groups, respite care, and a medical equipment lending closet. To be eligible you must be a/an informal, unpaid family caregivers of older adults, aging 55 year old or older; a grandparents or relative caregiver, age 55 and older, who are the primary caregiver of the child not more than 18 years old because the biological or adoptive parents are unable or unwilling to serve as the primary caregiver of the child. They must be related to the child by blood, marriage, or adoption and live with the child.

Priority will be given to caregivers who are older individuals with the greatest social need, older individuals with the greatest economic need, and older individuals providing care to individuals with severe disabilities including children with severe disabilities. The Caregiver Support Program will not pay for a caregiver. This program is only for non-paid family members providing caregiver services on an occasional basis.
